Greenleaf's Camps, Sugar Island, Moosehead Lake.

We arrived five days after the lake cleared of ice. All the camps or log cabins were occupied save one, which was reserved for us—John A. Woodman and Fred W. Sanborn of Norway.

During the past four or five months we had listened to the marvelous tales of big catches of fish as related by E. A. Greenleaf in the office of the Beal's Hotel. We were now on the spot to prove the truth or falsity of those interesting stories. It was easily done without even wetting a line. The incoming fishermen that evening showed conclusively the stories to be well founded and not unreasonably overstated. The result of the day's catch was 54 fish, 38 square-tailed trout and 16 crotch-tailed lakere, total estimate weight of 175 pounds or average of about 18 pounds for each canoe.

The camps are prettily situated on a birch point and among the trees are spruce and fir. The grounds are well kept and there is a good garden spot enclosed by a high wire fence to keep out the deer though it's said they occasionally break in and steal. The seven log cabins face the south and are well furnished and have open fires. There is a post-office, dining hall, storehouse, work shop, etc. Also a 25-foot specially built motor launch, capacity of 15 passengers, have their parties on the lake to any part of the lake. The camps have long distance telephone connection and it's an ideal place for a summer vacation after the fishing season closes.

Our biggest day's catch two fishing in a boat, trolling, was 25 fish weighing 18½ pounds, three were salmon, the largest 4½ pounds.

These illustrate the best catches made by Messrs. Woodman and Sanborn in one day. There were other bigger catches but the above is the best done by this party and is perhaps a fair average for the best day's catch for the five days.

Such trout grounds as Beaver Creek, Burnt Jacket shore, Birch Point, The Thoroughfare, Mathews', Doughnut cove and about the islands, etc., were visited and fish found in one place about as well as in another. Trout were taken near shore and toge out in the lake. No one at this season fish for lakere and those caught in were taken from trout grounds.

Sugar Island is excellent hunting ground for deer and small game. Moose are occasionally seen on it. The island is six miles long and three wide and is wholly covered by forest. It is the largest island in the lake and is nine miles from Greenville Junction. A steamer of the Coburn Transportation Co. touches there twice daily, coming from Greenville Junction. Mr. Greenleaf is postmaster and the office is known as "Sugar Island, Me."

A side trip was made to Spencer Pond and good fly fishing had at the outlet. Between 30 and 40 trout were caught, the largest only being killed—just 14 in number—some of them weighing more than a pound.

We camped one night at Spencer Pond and one day at Lucky Point in Spencer Bay, wind too strong and waves too big, or as the guide, Walter A. Taylor, said the traveling was a little "too bubbly for comfort or safety," and we hung up from 8.15 a. m. to 6.20 p. m., waiting, watching and whittling a stick. We slept some, walked more, fretting just a little, and re-named the place "Point Hope." Finally the southeast breeze lulled, the canoes was launched and we paddled for the other shore, reaching Jackson & Stevens' camps a little after dark.

Here were comfortable log camps and a merry party of fishermen, and a telephone to the outside world. The following day we crossed the Narrows and were paddled to Kincaid, some 15 miles distant. One salmon and two trout were taken.

Burial at Cambridge, Mass.

The funeral of Hon. George O. Robinson was held Wednesday, last week. Rev. Frederick Newport officiated and a choir from Oxford village furnished the music. Mr. Robinson was a life-long Congregationalist and at the time of his death was a member of the North Avenue church in Cambridge. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. George Wilder of Oxford. He was taken to Cambridge for burial beside his wife, who passed away eight years ago.

Astley L. Burnham.

Astley L. Burnham, who was killed by an electric shock from a lamp in Bridgton, May 24, was the son of the late Leonard M. and Matilda (Nevins) Burnham; both natives of Sweden, but long residing on the farm which in later years has been made into the attractive summer place known as "Lake View," the most really ideal in all this region.

Here the deceased was born fifty-three years ago. He has not only been industrious and successful as a farmer, but has taken a hand at the stage and livery business; has for many years been the conductor of the freight coming by rail or steamer for the village business houses; has served the town as road commissioner; and in various capacities has been useful in his day and generation. He was an ideal hotel-man and of the Lake View he has made a most popular resort—guests coming from New York, Boston, all the great cities, and coming once quite sure to come again.

Mr. Burnham was twice married, his first wife being Alice Seavey of that town, the mother of his four children, who survive: Howard, Winifred (Mrs. Carl Plummer) Bertha and Grace. The second marriage was with Mrs. Ella Green (nee Miss Whitcomb, Waterford) who survives him. Two children of her first marriage are now with the mourning household, Margarette and Melville Green. Of the Leonard M. Burnham family there survive Ernest of Bridgton, Ralph of Harrison and Mrs. Gora, wife of C. F. Ricker of Harrison.

He was severely cut in two or three places on his left leg. His face was the most seriously injured, being cut in many places. He was removed to the house of O. F. GREENWOOD.

Fish Are Biting.

George Emmons and Lester Morgan are cutting pulpwood for Herbert Ring near the foot of Indian Pond. That is, most of the time they are engaged in this work but occasionally, both being enthusiastic sportsmen, they indulge in trout fishing as a side issue. On their way to work a few days since, George heard a splash in the brook nearby and caught a glimpse of what he supposed was a trout. Moreover he saw the identical spot where the elusive red spot went into hiding.

The brook at that point was narrow and shallow, observing which the boys arrived at the hasty conclusion that it would be easy to catch the game in their hands.

Accordingly George proceeded to scare him from his retreat while Lester, with thoughts of insidious trout for supper, knelt expectantly by the water's edge, ready to grasp the escaping fish. George prodded in the hole beneath the bank. Lester made a dive with both hands and then a sound that was neither shriek nor howl, rent the air. Never, in the sylvan retreat, since the Indian descended upon the defenceless settlers in the still of the night did such unearthly noises issue from human lips, why?

Simply because that trout proved to be a good sized, well developed and particularly viscous muskrat with teeth like a cross-cut saw and when they met in the flesh of Lester's finger the above explosion occurred. Hereafter our friend will catch his fish with hook and lines.

Albert Dill of Portland visited Sunday with friends.

North Norway and Greenwood met for the second time this season in a ball game on the Greenwood grounds, Saturday.

The game was an exciting one from start to finish and not until the last man was out was the result certain. Greenwood won by a score of 5 to 3. Seams of Bryant Pond did the twirling for North Norway while Cal of Norway pitched for Greenwood. The work of both was excellent but his bunched off Seams in the second inning with two costly errors netted Greenwood four runs, sufficient to win the game. Both pitchers received excellent support with the exception of the inning referred to above.

HELPFUL ADVICE

You won't tell your family doctor the whole story about your private illness—you are too modest. You need not be afraid to tell Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., the things you could not explain to the doctor. Your letter will be held in the strictest confidence. From her vast correspondence past thirty years she may be able to give you the very knowledge that will help you. Such letters as the following, from grateful women, establish beyond a doubt the power of to conquer all female diseases.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. Norman R. Barnard, of Allentown, Pa., writes:

"Ever since I was sixteen years of age I have suffered from an organic derangement and female weakness; in consequence I had dreadful headaches and was extremely nervous. My physician said I must go through an operation to get well. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it and wrote you for advice, following your directions for several weeks. I am now a well woman, and I am telling all my friends of my experience."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, nervous prostration.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

Too Much of a Good Thing.

On Saturday evening last it began raining about dark and it continued almost without intermission and with increasing violence till far into the next morning. The real effects of the copious rainfall during more than five hours was seen in the rapid rising of our lake.

After a pleasant, rainless Sunday Jupiter Pluvius got on a rampage again on Monday morning and the watery clouds exploded themselves upon the drenched earth with perfect looseness. Tuesday, the ponds were up above the ordinary high water mark. Rain is a good thing but when it causes deep gullies in the good roads and in our nice thrifty gardens and changes the map of the earth's surface to a frightful extent, then, too much of a good thing—you know the rest.

A Noble Work.
The union temperance service held Sunday evening at the Methodist church under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. was well attended considering the inclemency of the weather. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Ella M. Bates.

The very excellent program was opened by a praise service of three familiar hymns by the congregation led by a chorus choir consisting of three soprano voices, two altos, one bass and one tenor.
Scripture and prayer. Rev. Isabella S. Macduff.
Solo. "If with all your heart, from Elijah." Singing from the White Ribbon Hymnal.
Some glad day. Mrs. M. E. Church.
Address. Mr. Ford, pastor M. E. church.
Remarks. Mrs. M. E. Church.
Singing from White Ribbon Hymnal. Choir Benediction. Mr. Ford.

Every part was done in a very creditable and pleasing manner, but for those who were not able to be present we would especially mention the addresses. Mr. Ford is a new comer this conference year at the Methodist church.
Both he and his companion have shown themselves as willing temperance workers by first becoming members of the local W. C. T. U. Mr. Ford opened remarks by dividing them into three phases: the cost of the liquor traffic.
The first he brought out in a very able manner in figures as to the number of drunkards in the United States who die yearly daily and hourly of the cost to the government for the prisoners caused by the traffic, then the cost to the home to the man himself. He commended the prohibitory law. Being an elderly gentleman and a native of York county he could remember when there was no prohibitory law, when any one could get into any store in his town and buy a gallon of liquor as freely as a pound of coffee, when it was not safe to walk the streets after dark. But recently when he visited there it was quite the opposite.

He commended the W. C. T. U. in their noble work. Miss Macduff in her remarks added to this another phase of the cost to mankind. We must be on the alert to thwart the purpose of resubmission. She said several men had told her of places where liquor could be bought here asking why the W. C. T. U. did not clean them out. But it is for the men to do this work. They have the evidence and the authority. Such work is not for women. The W. C. T. U. can only use their influence.

In 1825 she married Samuel Bryant, one of the early settlers of Bryant Pond and for many years lived in that town at the head of Lake Christopher. She had nine children: Elvina, Eleanor, Deborah, Amos, Byron, George, Lawson, Albion and Scott. Only two are now living, Amos and Albion. Three of her sons served in the Civil war. Amos, now living at Bryant Pond; Byron, deceased, and George, who lived here until his death, three or four years ago. She had twenty-five grandchildren, several great grandchildren and one great-great grandchild. Her husband, Samuel, died Oct. 16, 1881, aged 81 years, since which Mrs. Bryant made her home with different relatives until she went to make her home at Jacob P. Curtis' 9 years ago. She was a loving, devoted mother, and passed her hours of toil and anxiety in behalf of her children.

The Argument

When it is known that its power to strengthen the system and build up the body is why Father John's Medicine cures colds, it will be understood why it is so valuable as a tonic and for driving the impurities out of the system. It feeds the tissues and makes strength; prevents pneumonia and consumption—not a patent medicine; pure and wholesome—50 years in use.

School Song, N. H. S.

Tune "The Mountains"
Words by FLORENCE A. RIDGOTT, '08.
Amidst the silent beauty of our Oxford hills,
We have wrought our wayward fancies o'er
Have read the lessons writ in wood and rippling rills,
And we've sought the treasures hid in Wisdom's lore.

A happy band we while away the busy days,
Or we cheer on the echoing hills reply;
And we're our path may lead thro' dark or sunny ways,
We will love for aye our dear old Norway High.

Oh rugged hills look down upon our joyous throng,
With thy breezes gently away our banners bring;
Teach us to make our pathway bright with happy song,
Ever loyal to the hilltops and white.

Oh Norway! dear Norway! we love thy pine-clad hills,
Whose beauty, uplifting, our hearts with gladness thrill;
And ever in friendship we're bound by mem'ry's tie,
All loyal to our dear old Norway High.

Class Ode.

ELIZABETH MYRTLE MILLETT, '08.
Our school days now are nearly past,
Yet still we love to linger here;
'Tis sad to think that soon we part
From schoolmates, friends, we love so dear.
Each thing around us brightly lies,
But yet fond memories linger still;
With regretful hearts and dewy eyes,
We say to all our last farewell.

Our hearts will long recall each joy
That holds us in true friendship here;
Our happy times shall never destroy
The memories now we love so dear.
Or other joys and other cares,
We all must soon our story tell
With sad hearts and to those we leave
We bid you all a last farewell.

Farewell to friends that we are leaving,
Farewell to you dear teachers true,
The time it now has come for parting,
As we say our last farewell to you.

Dr. DeWitt Parmenter has taken the Crooker homestead, Lower Main St., for the summer.

A Chance to Save Money.
There is not the slightest reason why you should not feel well and strong. That great free offer of Dr. Greene's is proving the best friend that weak and delicate people ever had. A letter sent to him at his office, 84 Temple Place, Boston, Mass., telling the symptoms you are suffering from, will be immediately answered by the Doctor, describing your complaint minutely, and making you understand perfectly just what ails you. And all this for nothing. You don't have to leave your home and you don't have to pay any doctor's fee to learn exactly what your complaint is, and how to get well and strong, from Dr. Greene, the greatest living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. The Doctor makes a specialty of curing patients through his great system of letter correspondence, and is having wonderful success. Thousands of weak, delicate men and women are writing him about their complaints, and are being permanently cured. It was he who discovered that world-renowned curative, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Write the Doctor at once and send him your complaint. It will probably be the means of your getting back your health.

Tells Our Readers How to Mix Best Rheumatism Cure.
A well-known authority on Rheumatism gives the readers of a large New York daily paper the following valuable, yet simple and harmless prescription, which any one can easily prepare at home:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

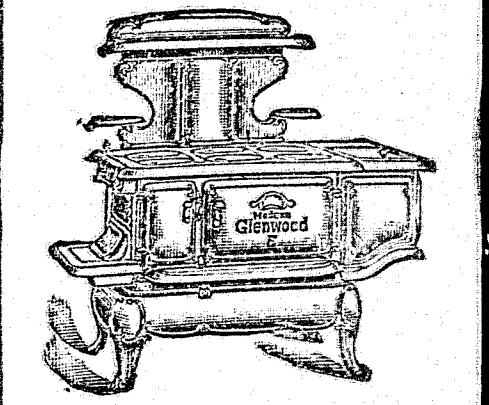

He states that the ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost, and, being of vegetable extraction, are harmless to take.

This pleasant mixture, if taken regularly for a few days, is said to overcome almost any case of Rheumatism. The pain and swelling, if any, diminishes with each dose, until permanent results are obtained, without permanent injury to the stomach. While there are many so-called Rheumatism remedies, patent medicines, etc., some of which do give relief, few really give permanent results, and the above will, no doubt, be greatly appreciated by many sufferers here at this time.

Inquiry at the drug stores of this neighborhood elicits the information that these drugs are harmless and can be bought separately, or the druggists will mix the prescription for our readers, if asked to.

OXFORD.

Memorial Day was fittingly observed in Oxford, not only by the G. A. R. Post, but by the citizens and children.

The buildings and many of the lawns were decorated with flags and bunting.

The postoffice and places of business were closed most of the day. The oration was delivered by Rev. E. L. Farnsworth in the Methodist church at 10 a. m.

Dinner was served at noon to 150 guests including 76 school children.

At 1.45 the parade was formed by Marshall Almond Crocker, and headed by the Norway Brass Band the line of march was taken up to the Oxford cemetery.

The route was from Main to Pleasant street and around the square to the Oxford cemetery on King street.

On arrival at the cemetery prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Newport then members of the T. A. Roberts Post were detailed to decorate the graves.

Each member was accompanied by a young lady from the high school who placed a wreath upon the grave and a flag in the marker.

The completion of the ceremony by the line of march was again taken up to King street to High to Methodist cemetery. Prayer was offered by Rev. E. L. Farnsworth. Again members were detailed and accompanied by the young ladies came around the cemetery, carefully taking down the flags and the order to break ranks was given.

There were nearly 100 school children in line and the decorated many compartments for their fine appearance and good behavior. Each child received the gift of the flag that it carried.

The Memorial exercises of the season were brought to a fitting conclusion by the special services which were held at the church where the members of the Relief Corps and G. A. R. were present in a body. After prayer by Rev. E. L. Farnsworth and singing by the choir, Rev. Frederick Newport spoke fittingly of the present need of civility.

Brief but interesting and patriotic addresses were made by Comrades Cyrus Chapin, Bertie M. Phillips and Agnes Fuller.

A procession, headed by the Relief Corps and G. A. R., was then formed and marched to the river's side where the first named organization rendered its impressive ritualistic service for the sailor dead. This ceremony was closed by the straining of wreaths and other floral tributes upon the water by the school children. As the flowers floated silently down the stream on their way to the ocean, America was sung and the company disbanded. All who were present agreed that this beautiful service should form an established part of the Memorial exercises of the future.

Flag Raising at Oxford.

On Friday, May 29 the village schools hung a beautiful flag to the breeze. The flag, 6x12, was bought by the school children and teachers. The flag staff, a magnificent tapering mast, painted white, its entire length and rising 70 feet above the ground, was a gift from the Ladies' Relief Corps, and was placed in position by Julius Fuller, a member of T. A. R. Post.

The exercises were held in the High school room which was decorated with a profusion of bunting and flags, and was well filled with children, their parents and visiting friends. Program:
